- 6mm platinum pearl
- 1 globe bead
- small almond pearl

* Please note there are a few spare beads included

1. Cut a 36cm length of tiger tail. Thread one end through the hole in the clam shell.

Make a knot leaving about a 6cm tail, thread the end of the 'tail' back through the hole and pull so the knot is tight and in the middle of the clam shell.

Optional: For added security put a small drop of glue on your knot and leave to dry before closing the clam shell.

Close the clam shell by folding it in half, matching the eyelets on the top. With your flat nose pliers give the clam shell a couple of squeezes till it is firmly closed and covering your knot.

*Please have a look at our YouTube channel for more detailed instructions on how to use tiger tail wire and pinning a looping beads.

2. Start threading beads onto the tiger tail. Feed the tiger tail that was folded back through the clamshell, through first 3 beads and cut.

Carry on threading beads, either all large pearls followed by small pearl, alternate large small or in groups of 2-2 or 3-3, up to you!

3. At the end, feed on the second clamshell. Make a knot and carefully feed down the knot into the clamshell.

Tip: It's easiest to make the knot with a nail or small Allen key and pull it down for accuracy.

You should have a 6cm length left and no slack before you close the clamshell. Feed the extra tiger tail back through clamshell, through the first 3 beads and cut.

You should end up with a finished beaded pearl section of approx. 24cm after you have used up 6cm at each end to knot, feedback and trim.

4. Pin and loop the 5 large beads together with a small pearl at one end.

5. Wire wrap the mother of pearl spike bead:

Take a 10 cm length of wire, place through the top of the mother of pearl spike, bring together just above and pinch to make a small triangle.

Bend the shorter wire at 90 degrees to the long wire. Wrap the shorter wire around the long one twice, cut and tuck the end with your flat nose pliers.

You should now have one long wire, like a needle with a double coil at the base.

Thread a freshwater pearl onto the wire, bend, loop, make a double coil between the small freshwater pearl and the loop.

Now carry the wire over the freshwater pearl at a slight angle to reach the wire below, wrap around twice, cut and tuck the end.

6. Attach one side of your oval chain to the pearl chain with a jump ring.

Attach the bar to the other end of the pearl chain with a jump ring

Attach the toggle to the end of the chain with a jump ring

7. Space out the looped beads on your length of chain.

Connect each one to the chain using a jump ring.

If you want to make your toggle and bar part of the feature (as our example image below) we suggest attaching your shell spike and freshwater pearl charm with a jump ring to the jump ring that connects the toggle to the chain.

If you prefer to have your toggle and bar at the back (to be worn at the back of the neck), space out your 6 looped beads along the length of chain starting with the longest in the middle and the shortest at the top.

*Please note, there may be minor variations in the contents compared to the images. Our kits are made in the UK so if we run out of any beads or parts we will substitute them with something very similar and within the same colour and theme. There will always be enough to complete your creation. When making your jewellery please be aware that there will be small parts that need to be carefully disposed of. Please be careful of this if you have small children nearby.
